The Principal's address to the cadets and the assembled audience added gravitas to the proceedings, emphasizing the importance of patriotism and service to the nation.

The highlight of the day was the Intra Coy Competition, an initiative to foster healthy competition and team spirit. The COY of our college is divided into five platoons - Alpha, Bravo, Charlie, Delta, and Echo, each competing in various events that test their mettle and collaborative skills.

The group of two from each platoon engaged in a battle of wits, answering questions on General Knowledge, Current Affairs, and essential army and NCC knowledge. The chosen topic, "History of the Republic of India and Indian Constitution," added an educational dimension to the competition.

3. Poem Writing

The mid-morning session involved a Poem Writing competition with the evocative theme, "Through the Eyes of 26th January 1950." One participant from each platoon penned down verses that captured the essence of the historic day, showcasing not only literary flair but also a deep understanding of the significance of Republic Day.

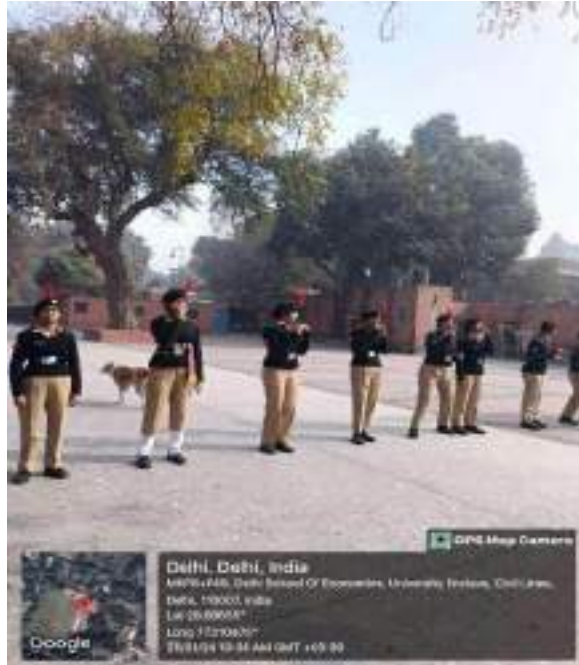

4. Three-Legged Race/Buddy Pair Race

As the day progressed, a fun-filled yet challenging Three-Legged Race or Buddy Pair Race added a dynamic and entertaining element to the proceedings. Groups of two from each platoon navigated the racecourse with synchronized movements, demonstrating both agility and teamwork.

5. Lemon and Spoon Race

The concluding event, the Lemon and Spoon Race, brought a sense of nostalgia and mirth. Two participants from each platoon showcased their balancing skills, adding a light-hearted touch to the overall competitive atmosphere.

Our dedicated cadets meticulously covered all events and are set to be showcased on our social media platforms. This initiative aims to instil a sense of patriotism and pride for the nation among the wider audience, extending the impact of the celebrations beyond the college premises.
